

Church Music Charades

Directions: Print the church music charade cards and cut them out. Fold the cards in half and put them in a bowl. Divide your group into two teams. One person from a team draws a card. Set the timer for one minute and say 'go'. The player acts out the song title on the card for his/her teammates. If the team cannot guess, the player may say the title, or the other team may guess. A correct answer scores one point. The first team to reach 10 points wins. An extra point is given if the team can sing part of the song. Some common charades hand signals are tugging of ear means sounds like; holding up fingers to represent how many words in the title; holding finger and thumb an inch apart means small word. Have fun!
